Dear Parents,

It looks like it going to be another busy week. The kids are settling in nicely to the routines of first grade. On Monday there will be a sub in our classroom as I will be doing the reading assessment to better determine a student's independent reading level. You may see the Book-in-the-Bags change or some may stay the same. We are still working on building our stamina for independent reading and will be starting small group instruction this week. Please remember that the key to reading is doing it every day and finding books that they enjoy. It is okay to read to, do shared reading or have them read to you and at this point picture reading is very important in their development.

They are really liking the new Bridges math curriculum and it is fun to see them catching onto patterns and seeing how math is important to so many things we do. I hope they are sharing some of what we have done so far, it is pretty amazing.

Up Coming Events:

Monday, October 15 – Conferences and Scholastic Book fair - 3:30-8:00

Tuesday, October 16- Conferences and Scholastic Book Fair 3:30-8:00

Wednesday, Oct. 17- No School / Conferences and Book Fair 8:00 – noon

Thursday and Friday – No School - MEA

Have a great week!

Paula ☺
